4th War Loan Drive Starting Friday To Reach Every Home

County's Systematic Solicitation Plan To Be Outlined in Detail at Workers' Rally.

Final arrangements were being made today for the Friday night rally at Epworth Methodist church at which Marion County War Finance committee workers, organized into several divisions, will assemble for launching of the Fourth War Loan drive.

The keynote of the drive campaign is to be systematic solicitation to reach every Marion county family with an appeal about the importance of providing financial backing for the war, and to urge each individual to do his or her part.

The workers Friday will be told exactly how the campaign is to be operated, with block leaders and the workers, treasury representatives and their factory committees, air raid wardens, rural and village chairmen and their assistants charged with the big job of contacting every family in the county at least once during the drive.

Block leaders have been made responsible for designated areas of the business district, and these teams will contact every person working in that block. They will not only do actual selling but also will make a record of all bonds the persons in their block are buying from any other issuing agencies during the Fourth War Loan drive, so that each block leader's area may be given credit for all bonds bought by persons employed in his territory.

Basic Schedule Set

In the factories, treasury representatives have been named for each industrial plant, to work with a labor-management committee within the plant itself. Since most factory workers already are on the payroll savings plan of regular bond purchases, these committees and their treasury representatives will center on an appeal to push the month's purchases for each individual up to one-third of a month's income. For example, if a worker is making $100 a month, he probably is putting from $10 to $15 a month into war bonds now through payroll savings purchases. The committees will ask such a worker to buy enough more bonds to make his Fourth War Loan drive purchases total $33.33. If each Marion county person with an income responds on this basis, the drive will go over the top, but without this kind of support, it can not succeed because of the large percentage of the total quota assigned to individual buyers, drive leaders emphasize.

Expect 100% Canvass

Through the block leaders and their workers and the factory committees, leaders feel that about 90 per cent of the families in Marion will be reached. Contacting the remainder will be up to the air raid wardens, who will make a house-to-house canvass of the residential area.

In the rural areas, organizations have been set up to contact every home in the various communities, and to reach every farm.

National figures show that only the areas in which the workers personally contacted every potential buyer went over the top in previous war loan drives, and for that reason national, state and local leaders are insisting on arrangements in this drive to reach every family in the county. If every worker does the task assigned to him every family in Marion county will have been reached before the drive ends, E. J. Schoenlaub, chairman of the county War Finance committee, said.

The nationwide drive will get under way Jan. 18, but in Marion the starting date will be immediately after Friday night's 7:30 rally in the Epworth church for workers and their wives.

County Goal

The county goal is $2,838,000. The drive will continue until Feb. 15, although leaders would like to concentrate their efforts and get the job done in Marion county by Feb. 10 if possible. The national slogan is 'Let's All Back the Attack,' and the individual quotas are at least a third of a month's income for wage and salaried workers and $1 an acre for persons owning or operating farms.

5TH ARMY ON MOVE FORWARD

Entire Line Advances; French Units Drive Nazis From Mountains.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Jan. 13—Virtually the entire American Fifth army was on the move today as it broadened its offensive from near the coast to central Italy and sent French units hammering through 3,000 and 4,000-foot high mountains to threaten Cassino from a third side.

American infantry swept to within three miles of Cassino with capture of Cervaro at 1 p. m. yesterday, headquarters announced.

In the first day of the French offensive in central Italy, Gen. Alphonse Juin's troops advanced two-thirds of a mile southwest of Roccheta, 12 miles northeast of Cervaro.

French Take Peak

They captured a 3,000-foot peak overlooking the road winding almost due west of Iserna, took several points on the 4,000-foot Monna Casale range and recaptured two peaks previously lost—Mt. Mollino, seven miles northeast of Cassino, and Mt. Rajno, in the same area north of Viticuso.

The surprise French advance caught a number of German prisoners.

Juin's troops, fighting in some of the roughest country in Europe, were threatening the Cassino-Atina road, leading north from Cassino.

On the Eighth army front there were only patrol activity and heavy artillery fire.

Win Crushing Victory

Announcement of more details of the sky battle over Sofia on Jan. 10 between American Flying Fortresses and their P-38 escort and 60 German fighters, disclosed the Americans had won a crushing victory, shooting down 28 enemy planes at a cost of only two.

Bad weather allowed comparatively few air sorties yesterday, but fighter-bombers over the Dalmatian coast shot down two Messerschmitt 109s.

In Italy, American Mitchells attacked enemy targets near Arce ahead of the Fifth army and fighter-bombers attacked in the Orsogna area. RAF Baltimores also bombed Palena, 25 miles southwest of Chieti.

In the Adriatic, British destroyers shelled enemy rail targets along Italy's coast.

LINK BATTLE TO INVASION

Smashing U. S. Air Raid Seen as Forerunner to Channel Crossing.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 13—The flaming battle which a great force of possibly 1,200 American bombers and fighters fought over Germany Tuesday with the rocket-firing Nazi air force was viewed on both sides of the English channel today as forerunner of the mighty struggle for air supremacy expected to accompany a land invasion of western Europe.

A Stockholm dispatch quoted a Berlin military spokesman as describing the three-hour air battle as a 'rehearsal for the German defense force which will have to meet allied invasion air fleets."

Aircraft Plants Hit

The mighty raid, directed against three aircraft assembly plants, was also linked to the forthcoming invasion by Gen Henry H. Arnold, chief of the U. S. Army air forces.

"Were it not for continuing attacks against the production capacities of German aircraft factories," he told a press conference

CHAPLAIN TELLS OF LT. SWENEY'S BURIAL

"Died a Hero," Letter to Parents Reports.

A letter telling of the burial of their son, Lt Busby Wolfring Sweney, 23, who was killed in action on Dec. 10, in Kweilin, China, has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sweney of 627 Pearl street from Capt. Charles A. Sheldon, chaplain.

The letter addressed to Mrs Sweney and dated Dec 28, follows: "On Dec 14, 1943, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, I lovingly laid to rest the body of your son, committing his soul to God in the beauty of the Christian faith.

"Military censorship prevents me from mentioning details of his death. I will say however, he died a hero fighting in a righteous cause. The war department will supply you with all information concerning his personal effects and the possible transfer of his body home after the war.

"According to the Bible 'To die is gain.' Our Saviour has promised that we shall look again upon the faces of our loved ones. This is our hope, assurance and our sure comfort. God bless you."

A year ago today Lt. Sweney, a bombardier aboard a Liberator B-24, flew to Kansas City after spending a short furlough with his parents here. He left for overseas duty from a west coast port of embarkation on Feb. 18.

GAS EMERGENCY DECLARED FOR MARION TODAY

Most of State Put Under Civilian Restrictions To Keep War Plants Open.

Marion, along with virtually all Ohio, was in the midst of a gas emergency today, made necessary by the combined effects of cold weather and heavy gas needs of vital war industries.

A critical shortage of cooking and heating gas throughout the state today brought warnings from utility officials that unless civilian consumption is curtailed drastically, vital war plants may have to cease operations.

As a result, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., serving Marion and a number of nearby communities, made specific requests for cooperation from the public. These are as follows.

Heating—Don't use gas to supplement coal or oil furnaces. If solely dependent on gas for heating, confine living quarters to as few heated rooms as possible with heated quarters not above 60 degrees in daytime and 50 degrees at night.

Water heating—Shut off all water heaters, using range top for heating absolutely necessary water. Postpone baths, laundry.

Cooking—Limit cooking to one hot dish each meal; postpone home baking.

Officials also emphasized that during an emergency there is a constant possibility of a gas outage. Appliances not having automatic shut-offs should not be left burning unless there is someone on hand to turn them off if service is interrupted.

Length Indefinite

C. E. Sechrist, Marion manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., said the length of the present emergency will depend largely on the current cold wave.

The company will announce the time for lifting restrictions as soon as the information is available.

The demands of war industries have necessitated apportioning gas to various communities and states to make distribution as equitable as possible, he explained.

The original amounts expected to be available for use here and elsewhere are below the normal allotments, and at the same time the amounts required for war industries have increased. As a result of this situation, several emergency periods are expected before April 1, he said.

The weather bureau said the temperature would continue to drop until Friday before rising from near-zero readings. The Associated Press reported.

In Columbus, Ohio Fuel Gas officials said that because of the protracted cold weather there had been no opportunity to "rest" the wells. Ohio Fuel appealed to consumers to curtail consumption, as did the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co., in southeastern Ohio.

One department of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. at Toledo has been shut down since Monday.

Warnings Issued

In Cleveland, Ohio Fuel warned residents to cut consumption. Other north Ohio communities affected include Elyria, Sandusky, Lorain, Norwalk, Vermilion, Oberlin and Medina.

Edmund A. Donnan, president, said the Federal Glass Co. plant at Columbus had shut down.

E. M. Tharp, vice president of Ohio Fuel said glass and pottery plants throughout Ohio would be first to feel the shortage.

No critical war plants were yet affected, he said, and no additional plants can close without permission from the Army ordnance department.

Congress Told Allies Ready To Strike in All War Theaters

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 13 President Roosevelt told congress today that after three and a half years of no more than sporadic offensives on the home and fighting fronts allied forces are now poised to blast the enemy in every theater of war.

He said this month ushers in the last of four great phases of America's part in the conflict—the phase of "offensive warfare" which will end only in total victory.

In his budget message to congress, projecting a $100,000,000,000 war outlay for the 12 months beginning July 1, the Chief Executive declared:

"With pride in the overall achievements of American management and labor, I can say that we are now well equipped, with pride in the military leadership of the allied forces, I can say that we are now in a strategic position to make full use of our equipment for decisive blows by land, by sea and by air."

Ready To Strike

The confident statement suggested the allied forces massed in Britain are now fully ready to strike at western Europe, and are being held in leash only until the time is ripened by other strategic factors, such as weather, the Russian offensive and aerial bombardment of Germany.

Likewise it appeared to foreshadow early new blows against Japan in the Pacific.

The message left unanswered the question of when victory may be won. The expenditures Mr. Roosevelt proposed are based on plans for continuing the fight for at least another 18 months, but contemplate possibility of an earlier triumph over Germany.

Four Phases

Mr. Roosevelt divided United States participation in the war into these four phases:

1. Preparedness — July, 1940, from the fall of France, to Pearl Harbor.

2. Defensive war — December, 1941 through October, 1942—A period which "came to an end with the attack on Guadalcanal and the start of Africa."

3. Aggressive deployment—November, 1942, through December 1943. "During that time," Mr. Roosevelt said, "we had to build up and fill up the pipeline for military supplies of all kinds as well as establish material reserves for future aggressive operations."

4. Offensive war — January, 1944, to victory.

RED CROSS SHIPMENT

A shipment of garments for the Red Cross packed today by the local chapter to be sent to the Red Cross warehouse at St Louis, Mo., contained these articles, five women's coat sweaters, 20 children's sweaters, five children's sweater sets, 15 men's pajamas, 10 children's night gowns, five boys' night shirts, five boys' shirts, 10 girls' blouses, five girls' slips, five women's slips, one afghan.

BRICKER CITES DANGER AHEAD

Ohio Governor Says Change in Philosophy of Government Needed.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan 13—Gov. Bricker of Ohio, a Republican presidential candidate declared here today there must be a change in the philosophy of government as well as a change of administration at Washington.

In a speech prepared for delivery before a meeting of Republican clubs, Bricker said "The Republican party must reverse the trend—the reactionary trend toward absolutism and governmental power—and restore our traditional freedom.

"The guarantees of the constitution with its bill of rights must be reestablished as the foundation of progress."

Sees Many Dangers Ahead

"America in her domestic policy is confronted with many dangers," Bricker declared.

"There is danger in the size and power of the federal government itself and its encroachment upon the proper functions of the states.

"There is danger in the vast revenue drawn by the federal government from sources heretofore available to the states.

"There is danger in the burdensome taxation—not for war but expanded functions of government—depriving our people of the opportunity to make their own way.

"There is danger in the bureaucratic restrictions  that have been smothering the initiative and enterprise of our people.

"There is danger in the ruthless aim to destroy our system of the checks and balances ***."

Promises Must Be Kept

"The Republican party," he said, "must adopt a forthright platform constructive and clear  give the American people issues to decide and then when successful, as I am confident it will be in the next election, the Republican party must keep its

Marion Family Made Homeless by Fire; Appeal Made for Aid

Parents and Four Children Flee in Night Clothing from North Grand Ave. Blaze Early Today.

A Marion family of six was forced to flee in night clothing into the cold at 8 this morning when their house caught fire and burned to the ground.

Neither the parents nor children were able to save anything from the flaming structure. An appeal went out today from the Salvation Army for Marion residents to donate furnishings and clothing to help outfit the family.

The family includes the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Black and four children, a boy, three years old, another boy 9 and two girls, ages 13 and 20. The house, a four-room structure located at 457 North Grand avenue was built within the last two years.

The blaze started when Mr. Black returned to bed after building a fire in the heating stove earlier. He was awakened by crackling flames and saw the roof ablaze. All of the family had to be aroused from sleep and while the children were taken from the house safely, Mrs. Black attempted to extinguish the flames with a bucket of water she had brought from a neighbor's house. Her hair was singed during the attempt and the flames were already out of control.

Firemen from the Mark Street station and the quad unit from Central station answered the alarm but could do no more than keep the flames from spreading to surrounding houses.

Damage was estimated at $900 and the property was not covered by insurance. Mr. Black, who has been in poor health, just recently started to work at the Fairfield Engineering Co., and had not yet been working long enough to get his first pay check.

Members of the family were being cared for by neighbors today and efforts were being made to install them in a small two-room building standing empty on the lot next to their former home.

Capt. Mary Nisiewicz, head of the Salvation Army, said today the Salvation Army would be able to give one bedroom suite and kitchen table and chairs to the family but other furniture and bed clothes would be needed. They will also need a heating stove. Clothing for the entire family and all miscellaneous furnishings will also be needed. Capt. Nisiewicz said all contributions would be greatly appreciated and requested all who are able to bring their donations to the Salvation Army headquarters at 403 West Center street or phone 7188.

18 MONTHS OF WAR FORECAST IN MESSAGE

President Estimates Conflict Will Rage Full Tilt Until Mid-1945.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 13—President Roosevelt had before congress today his second $100,000,000,000 war-time budget embodying plans for at least 18 months more of global conflict but at the same time reflecting preparations to absorb the impact of sudden victory in Europe.

For war activities he asked $90,000,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning July 1, on the assumption the fighting will continue full tilt at least until mid-1945.

"We can not rely with safety on hopes of earlier victory," Mr. Roosevelt said. He noted the possibility that victory on "one of the major fronts"—obviously the European—might be won earlier and said such a development would mean much money requested would not have to be spent.

The President said the essence of the government's program is that "while we move toward complete defeat of our enemies, we must lay the groundwork to return the nation to peaceful pursuits."

Mr. Roosevelt summed up the budget as "the financial requirements for victory." He included a demand for "a truly stiff fiscal program" providing at least $10,300,000,000 in new taxes on top of the $40,760,000,000 which he estimated present revenue laws will produce in fiscal 1945.

He urged congress not to alter the contract renegotiation laws, under which war production costs can be whittled down, or the automatic doubling of the one per cent social security levies which would have gone into effect Jan. 1 except for congressional action delaying the effective date.

Sees "Line" Held

He said estimates are based on the assumption the wage and price line will be held.

He reiterated his belief in the need for "judicious use of subsidies."

Barring European victory or other major development, the war program from mid-1940 to June 30, 1945, will involve a total of $307,000,000,000—of which $292,000,000,000 will have been actually spent. The rest will represent future contracts obligations.

He said January 1944 marks the beginning of "offensive warfare," the last phase of the war.

The President declared the time is at hand not only for wartime readjustments but for preparations for peace.

He set forth seven problems he said require a "positive, not negative" approach to assure the soldier, the worker, the business man and the farmer "against economic chaos." His problems include contract termination, surplus property disposal, industrial reconversion, manpower demobilization and reemployment, public works planning, veterans legislation and social security, and international readjustment.

"If hostilities end on one major front before they end on other fronts," the message said, large-scale demobilization adjustments will be possible and necessary while we are still fighting a major war."

Post-war Plans

Mr. Roosevelt said in addition to "war" and "non-war" spending, still another classification—"aftermath-of-war"—was emerging.

In this category he placed three-fourths of the $3,750,000,000 item for interest on the national debt, more than half the anticipated $1,252,000,000 outlay for veterans, and a large portion of the $1,709,000,000 contemplated as the cost of refunds on war-time taxes.

Mr. Roosevelt said the total of "other" governmental activities would continue their "steady decline since 1939."

The $2,953,000,000 estimate for those purposes, he added, is "barely half the comparable total of $5,897,000,000 expended in 1939. It is $571,000,000 below the revised estimates for the current fiscal year."

The President requested immediate appropriations of $17,000,-

DO YOU WANT AN ESSENTIAL OCCUPATION WITH A POST-WAR FUTURE?

We need a number of men for permanent positions as "mechanical tabulating equipment mechanics"—officially defined by Selective Service headquarters as an essential occupation.

WE are a large, well-established manufacturer of office machines and equipment. Our entire production is going to war manufacturers and government bureaus. We urgently need men who are mechanically minded—not necessarily with mechanical experience—to keep these essential office machines operating at top speed in war plants and government offices. We teach you everything you need to know about the machines, and we pay you a salary while you are learning. The positions are permanent, with excellent opportunities for advancement.

YOU are a man with a knack for mechanical work, even though you may not be using that knack at present. You are a high-school graduate and U. S. citizen. The armed forces have passed you by, and will continue to do so. You are not doing war work now. You are ambitious, loyal, a good worker, eager to get ahead.

YOU AND WE should get together. Write us a brief confidential letter, telling us about yourself. Give us also your age and phone number. Write today if possible.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

RUSSIA'S GOVERNMENT

Editor of The Star: The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is now the name of the country usually called Russia. Our people here should know what the government is like. Their military and economic power may make a new Europe out of the chaos war has caused.

The first World war debts were never paid.

Dr. John H. Gray says, "The fact that the U. S. S. R. has nationalized all productive instruments, including land, and abolished profits, interest and the exploitation of man by man, make a return to capitalism impossible. They have abolished speculation if one receives more than another it is because they produce more. He may live better but cannot invest it, or lend it at interest, nor can he take it or send it out of the country.

"Labor produces all wealth. But it is not shared as communism would do. It is a form of Socialism.

All positions are in Ohio, most of them close home.

Classes under this cooperative plan are started every Monday for those who have had previous training in shorthand and typing, and the first and third Monday of each month for beginners in these subjects.

Navy Morale Corps in Action

Fighting Men Bring War Home to Factory Front.

FIGHTING WORDS—San Francisco bay area war workers hear George F. Arm, United States Marine Corps, tell of action in the Solomons, where he spent five months.

By BONNIE WILEY
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — The magic whirrs and long strands twist and curl.

Three men in uniform watch, a workman turns from his machine.

What was it like over there? he wants to know. "Over there" may be the jungles of Guadalcanal, or the storm-tossed Atlantic.

The men in uniform begin to talk. It is the Navy's Industrial Incentive Division in action.

Sure, it's tough "over there" or "out there." The workmen get an earful.

This division, formed shortly after America plunged into war, brings the war to the home-front worker.

The scene is the Tubbs Cordage company, a rope-making war plant, but it could be any one of the hundreds of plants that make America an industrial giant.

The division operates through plant visits and rallies, featuring returned heroes.

There also are motion pictures showing how the equipment the worker makes performs in battle. There are special dispatches sent from the Navy to the workmen; graphic posters and booklets, and of course the "E" awards for outstanding production efforts.

Some 2,000,000 workers have heard messages from 450 men back from front lines. Sharp cuts in absenteeism and quick leaps in production have been recorded.

Here's an excerpt from a Brooklyn war plant letter which the Navy says is typical:

"We were on the verge of a strike. The ensign and the brave sailors made so favorable an impression that 500 persons ran back to their machines and . . . raised production 10 per cent that day."

GAS EMERGENCY

Every effort is being made to maintain your gas service during this time of extreme conditions. Factories which are declared non-essential or war plants which can catch up later with their production have cut or discontinued their use of gas. The remaining war plants must be kept going.

Please observe the following curtailments in your use of gas until the emergency passes. Your efforts will go far in helping prevent complete outage in some neighborhoods or communities.

Until Further Notice Please Make These Cuts In Your Uses of Gas

HEATING —

UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD GAS BE USED TO SUPPLEMENT THE HEAT FROM COAL OR OIL FURNACES. DON'T PERMIT YOURSELF TO USE THE RANGE OVEN, GAS GRATES OR HEATERS FOR SUPPLEMENTAL HEATING. EVEN SMALL AMOUNTS USED FOR THIS PURPOSE MIGHT CAUSE A COMPLETE OUTAGE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

Those solely dependent on gas for heating should confine their living to as few heated rooms as possible. Close off bedrooms, recreation rooms, sun porches and even dining rooms where this can be accomplished. The heated quarters should not be more than 60 degrees in daytime and 50 degrees at bedtime or after hours in a place of business.

WATER HEATING —

Shut off ALL water heaters.

Heat water on your range top only for bare necessities.

Postpone baths and laundry until emergency ends.

COOKING —

Confine your cooking to one hot dish per meal. This appeal is made to those eating in restaurants and hotels as well as homes.

Postpone home baking until the emergency is past.

During the emergency there is a constant possibility of a gas outage at your premises. Gas appliances not having automatic safety shut offs should not be left burning unless there is an adult person at hand to turn them off immediately in case the service is interrupted.

You Will Be Notified as Soon as the Emergency is Past

Iowa Farmer Makes Good in Air Forces As "Strong Man"

By CHARLES Y. SMITH
International News Service War Correspondent

U. S. BOMBER FIELD, Somewhere in England,—This is the story of the Iowa farm boy who made good in the U. S. Army Air Forces.

It's a tale that thousands of Middle West farmers and their wives will recognize as typifying all those farm boys who have gone away to war.

It concerns Corporal Ray Schut, of Remson, near Sioux City, an assistant crew chief at a B26 medium bomber field somewhere in England, but it probably could be told about hundreds of other Middle west farm boys now overseas.

Easy to Get Along With

Corporal Ray is 28, weighs 210 pounds, and stands six foot, two inches in his GI socks. Like most big men, he is gentle, has a slow, easy smile, and is very easy to get along with.

I ran across Ray when I went to take a look at "Miss Emily," a case-hardened Marauder which, on a recent bombing raid piloted by Lieut. Jim Davis, of Ellijay, Ga., had a cannon shell rip right into its fuselage six foot from the nose.

And I wouldn't have noticed Ray but for the fact he was handling a 100-pound complete nose wheel assembly as though it was a small sack of coal. And he wasn't perspiring.

"That's Ray Schut," said crew chief Sergeant John J. Lhota, of Pittsburgh. "He's the field strong man. We always yell for Ray when there's something heavy around."

Now a Skilled Engineer

And they told me Schut handled a nose wheel assembly and fixed a tire single-handed, as against a three-man gang in any other crew. They said he could cope with a 200-pound main wheel assembly "without too much trouble or help from us," and once had taken the strain off the nose of a Marauder when the wheel jack slipped for a few terrifying seconds.

I was introduced to Corporal Ray. He stood there, in his coveralls, nervously twisting his work cap in his strong hands, blushed when I told him I would like to take his photograph, and gave every indication of wanting to run.

And, as we talked, I soon became disabused of any idea that he was an all-brawn and no-brains type. In the 17 months he has been in the Air Corps, he has become a skilled engineer, treats his weight lifting feats as being "very useful" when there's work to be done.

Hopes to Buy a Farm

"Yes, sir," he said in that drawling speech of his, "they do tell a lot of stories around here about my strength, but a lot of them are just legends. I've just got a lot of strength and they've found it's very useful in some of these heavy wheel-change jobs.

"I came over to England midsummer of this year. There's a girl waiting for me back home and I'm saving to buy 80 acres of that good Iowa farmland as soon as I get home. I sure miss the farm. And I didn't like the ocean. You can't plow that."

He admitted, under questioning, that when they boarded the transport the other side, he toted along his own heavy overseas baggage plus 200 pounds of baggage belongin to his favorite officer. And he said he had plenty of friends. "They never trouble to pull anything on me, I guess," he said, simply and obviously entirely unconscious of his great strength.

There was something else he seemed to want to tell me, and, under encouragement, he finally said:

"You know, they are sending me on a 10-day commando training course to toughten me up."

I couldn't help thinking of Private Ray as a commando—a sort of one man commando division.

His sub-group will submit reports on defective delinquents at the general session on Feb. 15. The other sub-divisions under the mental health and welfare problems committee were also named. They are: coordinating, mentally ill and feeble minded.

Wants Hubby Denied Gas So He Can't Go to Dances

CLEVELAND, Jan. 13 — A disgruntled wife sent a letter to the regional office of price administration in which she sought to end her husband's motor trips to out-of-town dances.

"I would like for you to see that the rationing board does not issue a B gas stamp to my car, (Ohio) license number ——", the letter read, "my husband said he uses it to sell insurance. But he uses it to go to dances out of town. x x x he knows the women on the rationing board and a box of chocolate helps. x x x"

Wilson G. Stapleton, regional OPA information director, said the letter would be forwarded to OPA district officials in southern Ohio.

Your Federal Income Tax

9.—PREPARATION OF INFORMATION

A Federal income and victory tax return is a report to the Government of taxable income for the past year.

The declaration for most persons ... victory tax ... by many taxpayers ... 1942 was a percent of estimated tax ... for the year. The annual tax ... family bases on complete figures for the year will be reported in the income and victory tax return for 1943, due on or before March 15, 1944.

Individual returns need not be sworn to, but in each the taxpayer must sign the form under the penalties of perjury. They are kept confidential by the government and their contents cannot be disclosed to any person outside the Federal Internal Revenue Service except to certain officials authorized by law. The law permits inspection of returns by certain Congressional committees, law enforcement officers, and certain State officials who administer State income tax laws.

After a return has been filed, if it is associated with the declaration of estimated tax, if any, filed for the same taxable year, and checked for a current by the Internal Revenue Service. The taxpayer may be subject to examination or inquiry relative to matters connected with the return, or his income, and he may be asked for further substantiation of statements made in the return. If the estimated tax reported in the declaration as payable directly to the collector of internal revenue was substantially understated, a penalty for understatement may have been incurred. Estimates could however, be amended once in the last quarter of 1943 on or before the installment date, and only the final estimate for the year will determine whether a penalty is due.

It is important that persons subject to the income and victory taxes prepare complete and accurate returns, both in their own interest and in the interest of economy in the administration of the law. As an aid in accurate filing of returns, taxpayers should keep a record of income received during the year and at the time of preparing a return they should read carefully the instructions accompanying the forms.

Employes receiving State forms of Victory Tax Withheld ... Statements of Income Tax Withheld should preserve these receipts for evidence in supporting the claim for credit for ... victory taxes withheld.

Indefinite Suspense

PRINCIPAL effect of the new system of giving selectees final physical examinations at the outset of the induction process, then placing them in a manpower pool for at least 21 days may be creation of a new type of suspense. It will resemble the experience of reserve officers, who frequently have cleared the hurdles of physical fitness and swearing-in, only to sweat out a long anti-climax of waiting before being called for indoctrination.

Otherwise, the new system, which is to be put into effect after the first of next month, seems to have everything in its favor. It gives all selectees at least 21 days to get ready to go into service. It will ease the pressure on medical examiners. It may even have the effect of giving some of the oldsters now facing induction in carload lots a chance to start getting toughened up while they still can call on their wives to come to their rescue with horse liniment.

Public Surpluses After the War

GOV. DEWEY of New York is latest to deal with the tender subject of surplus funds piled up by wartime revenues and secured against spending attacks by shortages of material and labor. New York's surplus, reports the governor in his annual message to the legislature, has reached a total of $140,000,000, reflecting the state's large population and tremendous wealth.

This money, recommends Gov. Dewey, should be set aside for post-war public works designed to create employment, with the governor holding veto power over legislative decisions on its use. As in Ohio, with its surplus, the recommendation runs contrary to the spenders, who cannot stand the thought of public money not being wasted, but Gov. Dewey apparently is as capable of fending them off as Gov. Bricker has proved to be in this state.

There is one doubt raised, however, by the assumption that a public surplus should be earmarked for public works over and above those which, though on established schedule, had to be delayed on account of war. Particularly if it turned out—as it may, contrary to the sour predictions of those who have no faith in post-war prosperity—that no public-created employment was going to be needed immediately after the war, the money might be spent on little more than glorified boondoggles. Taxpayers might get a better break if the money also could be applied to tax reduction, thus becoming a net saving, instead of a net addition to public spending.

Grippe

AS EVERY victim of the current epidemic of so-called flu knows, it is an ailment that leaves no energy to spare for dealing with knotty problems. As we fall out of ranks one by one, day by day, all of us are thankful that there are others to carry on while we struggle languidly to regain our health. We are thankful, especially, that we are not the chief executive of the United States, for instance, with heavy cares and duties that cannot be evaded for even a day or two.

Mr. Roosevelt, according to the official report, has been having grippe. Few of us remember grippe any more. At one time it was something everybody had, but now everybody has flu, instead. The fact Mr. Roosevelt has grippe at this late date either marks him as a rugged individualist, or marks his personal physician as a man who thinks flu is being overworked.

Get a Horse!

THERE is something to be learned from the ironic circumstance that the aviation industry and, to some extent, the automobile industry seem to be afraid of the people's imagination as applied to post-war transportation.

Specifically, they seem to fear that popular acceptance of the idea that the sky will be full of flivver planes and helicopters and the superhighways covered with low-price, high-efficiency teardrop models is going to lead to disappointment. At least, their spokesmen are spending a good deal of time warning the people not to expect too much.

Perhaps the people have placed the cart before the horse and are building up their expectations higher than the engineering facts justify. But this is not necessarily a bad thing; rather, it is the first time that mechanical improvements have been made a matter of demand. Originally, the automobile and plane were resisted, not anticipated. So were many of the other mechanical improvements that created the national legend of mechanical ingenuity.

It has taken a long time to create a public attitude of anticipation, to stimulate the people's imagination to the point where it wants things not already in existence, where it stimulates designers and engineers to greater effort. If the cart has been put before the horse, the modern credo is to get another horse and have one pushing and one pulling. Instead of advising the public not to expect too much, spokesmen for the aviation and automobile industries should rise to the occasion.

News Behind the News

President Believed Getting Only Shaky Support for Legislative Program.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — In and out of congress, the reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's many-sided new legislative program sounded partisanly squeaky or devastatingly quiet.

This was almost necessarily so. The news themselves defied straight comment or analytical study.

For instance, the President proposes to get the power to draft people into industry in order to prevent strikes. But there already is a law supposed to prevent strikes directly, the Smith-Connally act, providing a cooling-off period, government seizure and penalties. (Union leaders shouted a few months back this was Fascistic robbery of their right to strike.) Mr. Roosevelt does not propose to amend that or make it stronger.

This new law which he now wants is not one to draft strikers into the army or make them work, but to allow him to draft everyone, women (18 to 50) as well as men (18 to 65) into any work he chooses by proclamation, thus the proposition is to punish all for the sins of the labor unions.

Manpower Situation

Then again, this Austin-Wadsworth bill was proposed a few years ago strictly as a manpower shortage measure. But the President did not mention a manpower shortage as a justification for attempting to revive it.

His Manpowerist McNutt testified to congress on draft-fathers some months ago that he expected to be "over the hump" on the then crucial problem by the end of last year. Senate Committee Chairman Truman said only a few days ago he expected the opposite condition — unemployment — to develop before the end of 1944.

At any rate, manpower necessities have been getting less and less government publicity since the draft threat was used to effectively to crowd people into defense industries and other related steps developed and the President did not seek to justify his draft extremity on that ground.

Some Points Doomed

But even more perplexing, he tied his appeal for this measure to a condition that congress do all of several other things or else forget his recommendation, and some of these conditions they will never fulfill.

The senate practically rejected immediately his first condition—a tax bill five times as big as the one it will pass.

So what he proposed cannot be enacted, and the whole thesis he advanced therefore falls, as he knew it must fall when he chose the words of his recommendations. What then is this all about.

One New Dealing senator privately thinks Mr. Roosevelt yearned most to tell the Army and Navy people that he would handle labor properly. The method of doing it, in a message to congress for legislation he cannot expect to get, will not draw many to accept this conclusion whole—although it may contain some truth.

On the other hand, the anti-New Dealers say it was just a fourth term political platform designed to enlist the popular appeal of the country against strikes (while the Republicans were meeting in Chicago), that it was just smart politics.

Politically "Smart"?

This explanation has many defects, also, especially as to use of the word "smart." The ideas might possibly appeal, on their face, to the 10,000,000 already drafted and enlisted, but how will the other 100,000,000 or so react politically at being made subject to industrial draft by proclamation?

More important both radicals of the New Deal stripe (left labor as well as right) and conservatives are against the proposal, and no votes are likely to be made in those groups. Thereby what it does do politically is to place Mr. Roosevelt in a more popular rhetorical position regarding union strikes without forcing him to do anything.

Therefore, any commentator seeking to furnish enlightenment might just as well go into a revolving door with this subject and spend the afternoon there.

Today and Tomorrow

President's Message Defended Against Criticism That It's Campaign Document.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A REPUBLICAN congressman declared at once that the President's message is "a campaign document." The congressman might pause and reflect on what he has said.

He has said that Mr. Roosevelt has chosen as a platform in a political year the following planks:

That taxes shall be raised;

That wages shall not be raised;

That prices shall not be raised;

That profits shall be limited;

That every able-bodied man and woman shall be made liable for national service.

These proposals violate all the known rules of politics which, as every one knows, are that taxes must not be increased in an election year; that the way to win votes is to be in favor of increasing the wages, the prices, and the profits of the largest number of organized pressure groups, and finally that the voters must be treated as long-suffering individuals who may expect much from the government but have no duty to inconvenience themselves.

Our congressman is, therefore, saying that Mr. Roosevelt thinks it is good politics in the year 1944 to propose the very things which no other politician has ever regarded as anything but straight political suicide.

Now how shall we explain this extraordinary performance?

No Amateur in Politics

We all know that Mr. Roosevelt is just about the shrewdest and most successful practical politician of our time. Nobody has ever doubted that. He may be, and indeed he is an administrator who cannot resist producing three headaches when one headache would be quite enough; who when he needs a suit of clothes will find three tailors, will tell each of them to make one leg of the trousers, will let each of them guess which leg he is working on, and will then appoint a fourth tailor to co-ordinate the trousers. But that Mr. Roosevelt knows American politics is not to be denied.

If, then, this message is Mr. Roosevelt's idea of a campaign document, certain things follow. Mr. Roosevelt must think that the great majority of the American people would wish to do any sensible thing which they believe will hasten the victory and will prevent this war from ending, as all other wars have ended, in a chaos of unemployment and crazy prices and bad money.

He must think that, painful as it is now seen to vote taxes, to hold down wages and prices and profits, and to call the voters for national service, by next autumn it may be very awkward, even politically dangerous, for a public man not to have been recorded in favor of these measures.

(This congressman has colleagues who are hoping that no one will remember that over the years they have rarely been recorded in favor of measures which might have prevented this war, or measures to be prepared for it.)

When the votes are cast next autumn, they will express the feelings of the people not on what routine politicians now think the people think now but on what are the conditions then. And by next autumn, as the President and commander in chief has better reason to know than anyone else, the war will be at its climax.

Ten million men will be in arms, and that ten million will have behind them here at home their families and their friends. For all of them the quickest, surest and least costly ending of the war must outweigh any consideration of money, of their civilian privileges, or of their personal convenience.

In short, when the young manhood of the nation is living dangerously and heroically, the best part of the nation may judge the politicians by what they did to win the war, rather than by what they did to cater to selfishness, laziness, and self-indulgence.

The usual rules of political behavior may not work at a time when so many Americans are doing such unusual things as storming the coasts of Europe and fighting in the jungles of New Guinea. If the congressman is right that this message is a campaign document, he ought then to ask himself whether perchance it may not be a good campaign document.

Retaining Public Confidence

It would not be the first time in this war that a program of victory by blood, sweat and tears has proved to be a better way of retaining the people's confidence than a menu of pap, applesauce and eyewash.

In any event now that the congressman has found out what is Mr. Roosevelt's campaign document, it is time that began playing the same kind of politics. He might find that it is very good politics.

And he might also find a certain satisfaction in it—the satisfaction when the stakes are life and death, not money and votes, of not stooping to the meaner natures of men but of doing his duty. That might be a durable satisfaction to find in these days which our descendants will remember long after they have forgotten who carried the Twelfth Congressional District.

"SWORD OF STALINGRAD"

Food Ready for Liberated Europeans

By Ovid A. Martin
Associated Press Writer.

AMERICAN food by the millions of pounds stands ready to follow Allied soldiers in the forthcoming invasion of western Europe to help feed starving populations freed from Nazi domination.

Officials estimate that between 10 and 15 billion pounds of food from all Allied sources, over and above supplies the liberated countries themselves may be able to furnish, will be needed to meet barest relief needs for the first years after the big push gets under way.

Huge quantities of cereals, dried milk, powdered eggs, canned meats, dry beans, dehydrated vegetables, sugar and other commodities from this country already have been moved across the Atlantic to storage depots in Great Britain.

Supplies from these depots will start moving to the continent as soon as the Allies establish a firm foothold on Hitler's European "fortress." As invasion troops fan out, the food will follow, to be distributed among civilians needing it.

Stocks already overseas will be augmented from supplies already accumulated, or earmarked, in this country.

No one knows yet just how much food will be required for complete relief needs, but American food officials estimate the total relief requirements during the first year of occupation of what is called a "European requirements area" would be equivalent to a year's complete feeding of about 23,000,000 persons.

Far more than that number actually will be fed. Officials declare it is not the intention of the Allies to put the liberated peoples on a lavish diet. Such could not be done, they explain, even if anyone should advocate it, because available supplies of food are insufficient.

IT IS the hope of relief officials to provide liberated Europeans with food sufficient to maintain consumption at about 2,000 calories per day for persons needing relief. Such a caloric allowance is about 30 per cent below recommended standards for normal living, but officials say this appears to be about all that could be assured under existing and prospective supplies.

Many thousands of people, it is expected, will require complete feeding, and supplies to them will be termed emergency rations. There will be maintainance rations for use in areas where no food supplies are available but where food preparation facilities exist. Finally, there will be supplementary rations for persons having access to some domestic supplies but needing additional food to reach the 2,000 calorie level and balance their diets.

The "European requirements area" comprises countries on the outer fringe of the continent that may be the first to be occupied—Norway, The Netherlands, Belgium, France, Greece, Italy, Albania and the coastal areas of Yugoslavia.

Food authorities say they expect the liberated countries to be able to produce a large portion of their requirements. Domestic supplies will vary greatly, however, from country to country, depending on the degree of removal and destruction of foodstuffs accompanying military operations and the level of domestic production maintained.

It is expected that disruption of trade and transportation will be so critical that relief food needs will be required for large segments of the population at least until trade can be reopened between rural and urban areas and orderly distributions reestablished.

THE United States months ago began the accumulation of supplies for war relief needs. Certain definite portions of this country's supplies have been allocated to a reserve for war relief and other emergency needs.

This reserve is aside and apart from supplies allocated civilians, the military services, the lend-lease program, and exports to other countries.

Supplies already allocated to this reserve from the American larder include: Wheat, 50,000,000 bushels; meats, 250,000,000 pounds; canned fish, 15,000,000 pounds; cheese, 25,000,000 pounds; condensed milk, 11,900,000 pounds; evaporated milk, 50,000,000 pounds; dried whole milk 1,300,000 pounds; dried skim milk, 65,000,000 pounds; dried whole eggs, 25,000,000 pounds; citrus fruits and juices, 17,800,000 pounds; potatoes, 150,000,000 pounds; dehydrated vegetables, 34,700 pounds; edible fats and oils (exclusive of butter), 96,200,000 pounds; dry beans, 218,700,000 pounds; dry peas, 127,000,000 pounds; rice, 13,500,000 pounds, and sugar, 42,602,000 pounds.

These supplies could be increased, if the need should arise, from another reserve stock called a "contingency reserve" which has been accumulated or earmarked for any emergency, military, foreign or domestic relief.

They also will be augmented by supplies being obtained from other Allied countries having stocks beyond their own domestic, military and other war needs.

The rate of demand upon American supplies for European relief will depend, of course, upon the rate at which the Allied military forces take over. The problem would be vastly greater if a sudden collapse should occur.

Officials must take into account the fact that in wartime the effects of food shortages are likely to be felt most keenly by women and children, especially in early childhood and in youth. Plans have been made to provide special rations for children and expectant mothers.

In early stages of relief feeding there will be need for ready-to-eat, processed foods suitable for feeding under unfavorable conditions. Such supplies must be economical of shipping and storage space, as well as highly nutritious.

Daily Bible Thought

We belong to a great family, do not disgrace it: "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your father which is in heaven." —Matt. 5:16.

Good Old Songs

Unfortunately Some of the Finest Never Became Popular Outside Repertoires of a Few Singers.

By DAMON RUNYON

HERMAN RUBY, well known song writer, says he is the author of the "Letter" song that I mentioned as the late George Whiting's best effort in his cafe entertaining. George used to half recite the song and pantomime the writing of a letter with his wonderful hands.

Ruby says the title of the song was "Your Darling Daughter Mandy" and was the first song he ever had published. Bert Grant wrote the melody. Bert afterward wrote a number of song hits with Joe Young. Ruby says the opening lines of the verse of the "Letter" song show how long ago it was written:

"New York City, August Fourteenth, Nineteen Hundred Ten. Dear Ma—I take my pen in hand to write you once again."

Ruby says he got $25 advance on the song and at the time he thought Fred Mills was crazy to pay him that much which, incidentally, was all he ever made on the song. It was a flop for every act, except Whiting, and he used it for many years.

Ruby never heard him do it. Whiting was working in cafes around Chicago when Ruby was in New York. Later, Whiting came to New York but somehow the author never got around to hearing his ditty as rendered by the master, though they became great pals.

RUBY'S letter reminds me of a lot of songs I thought were terrific as rendered by certain performers but which never achieved any great vogue and probably no vast royalties.

There was one called "Moonshine Valley" that could make me feel very, very sad. I do not know the names of the authors, the publishers, or anything else about it, except it's a swell number.

I first heard it sung by a cafe entertainer from Chicago named Marge O'Rourke, and to tell the truth I never heard anyone else sing it. She was a dashing looking girl who also included in her repertoire, long before the song drifted east of the Mississippi, "Melancholy Baby" and another number called "Easy Rider," which had a certain vogue. "Moonshine Valley" is a sort of hillbilly song, only with music entirely different from the type we know as hillbilly melody. It is ballad music, and the song is about a "wild mountain girl"—

"She was an outlaw but I knew it from the start
And like she broke the law that night she broke my heart—
She went over the hill to Moonshine Valley
And I took the road that led the other way."

Or something to that effect. Benny Fields, "your old minstrel man," sang a few snatches of the song for me the last time we met, but he did not remember the entire lyric of the music, either. Probably my memory is faulty on the lyric as I recite it here.

SPEAKING of cafe entertainers, Benny must be rated among the all-time topnotchers. Few singers can "sell" a song as well. The story of Benny's rise to big time cafe fame almost overnight after having apparently reached the end of the road is one of the great bits of dramatic lore of the amusement world.

But Benny never saw the day he could put over a song any better than the lady who is Mrs. Fields and who was professionally known as 'Blossom Seeley. She was a dynamic performer in her day, a high-salaried vaudeville performer for years and one of the greatest song delineators we have ever had. Blossom and a lady named Rae Samuels, "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville," were among my favorite singers. I often reflect they lived too soon, what with the great radio audiences of today.

There is another old song I always felt fell short of the popularity it deserved. The last time I heard it was in a cafe in Chicago a few years ago. The girl who sang it said she had been using it a long time but was a little vague as to its history.

I think Benny Ryan, who could dance most of the tap dancers you ever saw right out of a theater, was one of the authors, and I believe the title was "How That Gang Could Sing Heart of My Heart." Yes, that is an unwieldy handle, all right, but no better song for barber shop quartet singing was ever written.

Nominations in Order

By Truman Twill

They won't publish any pictures, but that can't stop this department from making its own gushy-girly nominations to go with the cuties who leg-muscle their way into the newspapers, after being named Miss 100 Percent Attendance Record, Miss Spirit of Squeedunk and so on by some press agent.

We give you, ladies, gentlemen and offspring, some misses, and a few missuses of our own selection:

Miss Working Slacks—who thought it was going to be more fun than anything when she blossomed out in her first long pants but quickly discovered they can look just as baggy and droopy on her as on anyone else after the third day and no matter where you stand to look at her now she is just another gal in long pants, no better than the average and a little worse than the above-average. She is glad there won't be any pictures with this blurb.

Miss War Job—who knows how that there's more to war work than counter-punching the time-clock twice a day, that inspiration comes a lot harder than perspiration, and that going through the daily grind isn't a bit like the moom pictures because her face gets dirty, her nose gets shiny and red and her hair gets—brother, what wouldn't she give for a few at the beauty shop, and no photographs, till she repairs the damage.

Mrs. Ration Points—the heroine who [illegible] her wits day in and day out with the [illegible] who think up fresh complications for OPA and somehow keeps track of the points, the [illegible] the kids she takes to the store with her, the old man she cooks for, the bundles she [illegible] around and what is left of her sense of humor. Picture? She hasn't had one taken since she was a bride—and confidentially, there's a reason.

Miss Ankle Length—the female of the species who thinks war is bad enough without the short skirts that go with it, because after all she can't help it if she isn't at her best from the knees down, at least no more than some other girls can help it when skirts are long and there's nothing in sight to save them but the ankles. Don't gab it around but she plans to help bring the end of this war by letting down some hems.

Mrs. Candy Kid—and don't let the look in her eye fool you, because she has just about a place where she can nab a pound of chocolates and run home with them and stuff them into her face one after another till they are all gone, oh yum-yum and snap-snap. But don't you dare mention a picture of her, because she is a nice girl, a good wife, a good mother and as patriotic as anybody. The camera always makes her look so stout. You know what she means—and how could you miss it?

DEEPER MUNITIONS CUTBACK FORECAST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Progressively deeper cuts in arms production in the next 18 months were forecast today in President Roosevelt's budget message.

Analysis of figures on war spending indicate outlay for munitions, including ships, will drop to a rate of 82 billion dollars annually in the first six months of this year.

For the subsequent twelve months—starting July 1—the rate was set at 56.7 billion dollars.

The figures represent sharp reductions from the 69.6 billion dollar rate achieved in November, the last month for which estimates on war spending are available from the war production board.

Mr. Roosevelt noted, however, that [illegible] estimates [illegible] expenditures for the fiscal year [illegible] billion dollars [illegible] no longer needed for war production, but only when we are sure that by doing so we will not impair the war effort."

U. S. Fliers Hold Big Score Over Japanese

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 13—Allied planes shot down Japanese interceptors at the rate of better than four to one in air battles over the Rabaul-Kavieng area from Dec. 23 to Jan. 11.

In that period, American and New Zealand fliers from bases in the Solomons destroyed 242 enemy aircraft above Rabaul, New Britain, and Kavieng, New Ireland. Our losses were 56 planes.

Sgt. Harold Powell, Wilmington, O., a Marine correspondent, said 1st Lt. Robert L. Baker, Youngstown, O., a former RAF pilot, led a division of Corsairs covering a Liberator bomber strike on Rabaul Jan. 1 and shot down two Japanese planes himself.

UPPER SANDUSKY, Jan. 12—"The Rams," Upper Sandusky High school's 1943 football team, were honored Tuesday when the Varsity "U" club presented its first annual football banquet at the high school auditorium with Paul E. Brown, Ohio State university football coach as the principal speaker.

The school's athletic manager and advisor Harold U. Cope, acted as toastmaster and told of the formation, a few weeks ago, of the club with the major sports letter men now in school as the charter members.

Coach Kenneth Sampson and assistant Earl Shaffer gave brief talks and introduced the members of the squad to the crowd of 200 men at the tables.

Supt. J. D. Blackford then presented Coach Brown as the "best known man in the country under 35 years of age, and the man who introduced me to golf ten years ago."

Very Easy to Make. No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, can't be surpassed, for real results.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really amazing cough relief—about four times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and let's you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

"Basic English" Controversy

International News Service

LONDON—A virtual controversy over the King's English—or rather it will be taught and spoken in the post-war world—today rages in Britain as the result of Prime Minister Churchill's decree for basic English at Cambridge university.

Pros and cons of basic English have split this literary-conscious island as sharply as the long and enduring Shakespeare-Bacon issue, bringing forth scholars, linguists, philologists and all manner of word merchants to add their bit to the question.

Devotees of esperanto, phonetic spelling, international morse code, pitman shorthand and other ingenious systems of communication also have emerged from dusty libraries to add a few hundred neatly turned words to the arguments.

Letter Writers Get Busy

It is the type of dispute that finds inveterate writers of letters-to-the-editor at their best. And these public spirited citizens have produced scores of documents showing what certain passages of the Bible or from Keats or Dickens would look like in basic English. Or recounting how the letter-writer taught basic to gathering of Sikhs in seventeen easy lessons.

But the least perturbed of all these guardians and students of the English language when the prime minister referred to basic was a quiet man who habitually walks around the town of Buxton carrying a walking stick or umbrella.

He is C. K. Ogden, creator of basic English. As he explained recently, basic is nothing more or less than the condensation of the more useful elements of the English language into 850 words.

Streamlined Vocabulary

English speaking people can read fairly long passages of basic without noticing that they are different from any other writing. The vocabulary alone has been streamlined so that relatively few words do the work of the several thousand in the average man's vocabulary. And the whole aim of the "word team," as Ogden calls it, is that it is relatively easy for Frenchmen, Poles, Chinese, Turks, Serbs and Arabs to learn.

Ogden declared that a class of 17- and 18-year-old Danish students in Copenhagen was able to use it freely enough to broadcast in basic after only 80 hours of study.

It's not new, this super-condensed Webster's. American college students had heard about it long before the war and it has been systematically studied by the Soviet army for years.

Call It Pidgin English

But Churchill's reference to it has called out a host of critics who are ready to point out that the Prime Minister, who commands a vast vocabulary, would find it difficult to confine himself to a mere 850 words.

Some critics call basic nothing more than a glorified pidgin English and others express fear that oversimplification on an international scope will cut deeply into the literary richness of the national tongue.

Meanwhile, the satirists have been at work. Why not, says one, throw accordion pleats into some common expressions and condense them into one word?

"What's on your mind, sister?" under this plan would become a simple "Wister?" Or "How am I going would become "Humdoom." And he foresees the day when a boy will look into the eyes of a girl and tell her that all their tomorrows will be yesterday or even last week—by murmuring "Tweek."

Which just goes to prove that even the Prime Minister can't fiddle with the King's English without having a few literary guardsmen raising their pens for combat.

BISHOP DIES IN COLUMBUS

Most Rev. James J. Hartley Was Head of Diocese for 39 Years.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13—The Most Rev. James J. Hartley, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Columbus for more than 39 years, died yesterday afternoon at the residence adjoining St. Joseph's cathedral here.

One of the elder statesmen of the Catholic hierarchy in America, he celebrated his 85th birthday last June.

A pontifical requiem high mass will be read Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's cathedral, followed by burial in St. Joseph's cemetery. The body will lie in state in the cathedral before the rites.

Churchmen throughout the state joined in eulogizing the bishop who had administered the diocese of 29 counties since 1904.

He was a very marvelous man," said Archbishop Joseph Schrembs of the Cleveland Catholic diocese.

Bishop Karl J. Alter of Toledo said: "His scholarly attainments, his influence on public life and his fine example of simplicity, dignity and benevolence will be greatly missed by his people and by his associates in the hierarchy."

In Youngstown, Bishop James A. McFadden termed Bishop Hartley's death "a great loss."

Archbishop John T. McNicholas said at Cincinnati, Bishop Hartley's death "has removed from Ohio a prelate wholly dedicated to his church and an American citizen whose patriotism was ever ardent."

Bishop Hartley was stricken with influenza shortly after Christmas and apparently had recovered when he suffered the first of a series of heart attacks last Saturday and was anointed. He improved, attended mass yesterday morning in his residence chapel, but became critically ill in the afternoon.

He died at 2:05 p. m. in the city in which he had been born, educated, ordained a priest and installed as bishop.

He had seen the Catholic population of the diocese increase from 55,000 to 150,000. During his tenure St. Charles Borromeo college-seminary was built, St. Mary of the Springs college expanded and St. Ann's infant asylum and maternity hospital erected.

War Budget Given Congress

000,000, of which $7,000,000,000 would be for war purposes, leaving $52,000,000,000 for war purposes to be appropriated later. He said the aggregate of new appropriations for the year probably would not exceed $70,000,000,000, compared with $100,000,000,000 appropriated during fiscal 1944. Remaining funds to finance the $109,000,000,000 program would come from receipts and reappropriate unobligated funds previously allotted.

Budgets Compared

Here's the way the projected budget stacks up with latest estimates for current spending and the actual figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943, and 1942 (in millions of dollars):

Purpose	1945 Estimate	1944 Estimate	1943 Actual	1942 Actual
War	90,000	92,000	75,035	28,266
Interest on debt	3,750	2,650	1,808	1,260
Veterans' pensions and benefits	1,252	865	600	552
Refunds (taxes and customs)	1,700	412	79	91
All other	2,053	3,521	3,583	4,479
Government corporations (expenditures less receipts)	15	175	1,476	410
Total expenditures	99,769	99,276	79,679	34,211
Net receipts	40,769	41,186	22,282	12,799
Deficit	59,000	58,090	57,397	21,412

Declaring "the time to impose high taxes is now when incomes are high and goods are scarce," Mr. Roosevelt said the administration's original tax program submitted last October calling for $10,500,000,0000 in new levies was "at least" the amount still needed.

Estimating federal in-take at $41,186,000,000 this fiscal year and $40,769,000,000 the following year, Mr. Roosevelt said the approximate gain of $19,000,000,000 over 1943 receipts reflected higher tax rates and current collections and higher levels of incomes and profits.

The Chief Executive said estimated deficits would push the national debt to $198,000,000,000 by next June 30, 1944 and to $258,000,000,000 a year later.

Declaring such a debt would require interest payments of $5,000,000,000 a year, he added that "with a national income of $125,000,000,000 or more, these payments need not prove oppressive."

AIR BATTLE

In Wichita, Kan., "Nazi efforts to double their fighter strength might have succeeded, with the result that the difficulties which must be overcome by allied air attacks and also by amphibious landing forces would be incalculably increased."

Almost 48 hours after the struggles five miles in the sky, some crews were still streaming back to their home bases from emergency landings due to battle damage.

Official interrogations were continuing and were expected to increase the claim made in the official communique that more than 100 Nazi planes were knocked from the packs of rocket-firing Nazi fighters that attacked the armada.

(Today's German communique was silent on the air battle, letting stand the German high command's claim of 136 U. S. planes downed, including 124 bombers.

(There was speculation in the United States Tuesday's operation might have been the Eight air force's first under command of Maj.-Gen. James H. Doolittle. There has been no official announcement of Doolittle's arrival in England, although he said goodby last week in Italy to his former command, the 15th air force.)

As for replacements, new American planes and crews have been arriving in England daily in such a stream that in some instances it has been a temporary problem where to house and feed them.

The Daily Express here declared the attack "indicates the United States bomber force based in Britain has reached a new strength which may soon equal the RAF's thousand plane (bomber) raids."

More than 700 heavy bombers and a likely record fighter escort constituted the American aerial task force.

All Plants Near Berlin

The attacks, directed against factories at Oschersleben, Halberstadt and Brunswick (Braunsweig), all within 120 miles of Berlin, constituted possibly the most crippling blow yet against the Nazi air arm.

Results were described officially as excellent. The Americans shot down more than 100 enemy planes.

An Eighth air force communique late yesterday said the assault cost 64 planes, a record loss.

Berlin propaganda outlets this morning still were declaring 124 bombers and 12 fighters were shot down, a claim put forth before release of yesterday's U. S. communique, which said:

"At Oeschersleben, direct strikes were observed on machine shops, and other factory installations manufacturing Focke-Wulf 190's. At Halberstadt a Junkers 88 and Junkers 188 component plant was heavily hit. At Brunswick two of three main assembly buildings producing Messerschmitt 110's were destroyed and the third was badly damaged."

Returning airmen said ground rocket guns, throwing up explosives "as big as a house," were used by the Nazis as well as their rocket-firing fighters in a desperate effort to turn the American formations.

New American bombers were already on the runways today to replace the 59 lost in Tuesday's spectacular raid, and fliers who took part in the battle were eager to get on with the campaign against the Nazis.

"We have plenty of replacements—we can take a whole lot more in war losses than we suffered Tuesday," an Eighth air force spokesman said.

The returned airmen summed up the flaming three-hour battle against swarms of Nazi rocket fighters and rocket ground guns in these matter-of-fact words:

"We won, didn't we?"

RECORD FOOD OUTPUT ASKED

Major Crop Benefit Payments Eliminated First Time Since 1933.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—President Roosevelt today called for the greatest production of food on record to meet expanding war demands in a budget message which eliminated major crop benefit payments to farmers for the first time since birth of the agricultural adjustment administration in 1933.

Declaring 1944 will be even more critical than last year on the food front, the Chief Executive predicted that, barring unfavorable weather, farm production would be even greater than the record of 1943.

Spending Reduced

Mr. Roosevelt's plea for more food was made in connection with a recommendation to congress that agriculture department spending in the 1945 fiscal year be reduced $314,000,000, nearly 33 per cent.

Direct appropriations under the President's proposal, would total $658,849,592 compared with $972,883,361 for the current fiscal year.

Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation would give the department its smallest appropriation since 1934, when $538,000,000 was provided.

The recommendation did not include, however, funds to carry out food and farm subsidy phases of the administration's stabilization program. The President previously had asked congress for a billion-dollar subsidy program, of which roughly $400,000,000 would be paid from funds of the department's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC), obtained in loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC).

On Crop Payments

On AAA crop payments, Mr. Roosevelt said:

Much of the government's assistance to agriculture in the past ten years has been intended to re-establish farmers' purchasing power. This has been achieved—and more. Farm prices in 1943 were 115 per cent of parity, and farm income in 1943 is estimated at 150 per cent of parity."

The President said the problem "is no longer to increase farm prices generally, but rather to adjust relationships among prices of the various farm products in harmony with relative production needs."

The war food administration (WFA), he said, has worked out a schedule of farm support or minimum prices for the 1944 crop season. Application of these support prices will depend, the President said, upon congressional action to extend life of the Commodity Credit Corp. and to increase its funds.

STATE COURT TURNS BACK MARION CASE

Refuses To Review Action Against Attorney.

The Ohio supreme court yesterday refused to review the case that began when a special committee appointed by the Marion county common pleas court began disciplinary proceedings against J. Wilbour Jacoby, Marion attorney. The Associated Press reported from Columbus today.

Jacoby had appealed to the state supreme court, seeking approval of his contention that the facts alleged in the committee's complain did not constitute a cause of action.

The state court's refusal to review the case automatically sends it back to the Marion county common pleas court for a hearing.

When the action was first begun, the committee, composed of Alfred Donithen and Howard F. Guthery, filed a statement in common pleas court declaring that Jacoby had been convicted of using the mails to defraud in connection with the Forest Glen trial in federal court, and consequently was subject to disciplinary action. Jacob's demurrer contending that this did not constitute a cause for action was upheld in the common pleas court.

The committee appealed to the Third district court of appeals, which decided that the facts alleged in the complaint did constitute a cause of action. It was from this decision that Jacoby appealed to the supreme court.

DEFENSE

Among these have been discontinuance of the civilian aircraft warning service and the closing of 69 army air forces installations.

Further evidence the war no longer is expected to hit continental United States came in an announcement last night by the war department and the office of civilian defense that no more practice blackouts and alerts will be held in the interior. Such practices will continue in coastal areas, but only on Sundays.

Budget Message Highlights

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—Highlights from President Roosevelt's budget message:

This is a period ending June 30, 1945, which I am certain will be shown in the story of the United States and of mankind, a period which will see decisive action in this global war.

We must fight and fight hard.

* * *

With pride in the overall achievements of American management and labor, I can say that we are now well equipped; with pride in the military leadership of the allied forces, I can say that we are now in a strategic position to make full use of our equipment for decisive blows by land, by sea and by air.

* * *

We have converted and diverted approximately half of our resources to war purposes. In the production of munitions we now almost equal the rest of the world combined.

* * *

For the fiscal year 1945—the year ending 18 months hence—war expenditures are estimated at 90 billion dollars. ...it (this estimate) is based on the assumption that the war will continue throughout the fiscal year 1945.

* * *

If hostilities end on one major front before they end on other fronts, large-scale demobilization adjustments will be possible and necessary while we are still fighting a major war.

* * *

Our objective must be a permanently high level of national income and a correspondingly high standard of living....the soldier, the worker, the businessman and the farmer must have assurance against economic chaos.

Both management and labor will need active help in finding their way back into peace and productive peacetime employment. ...to meet the great task of reemployment we must maintain and strengthen during the demobilization period a unified national employment and counseling service.

* * *

I repeat my recommendation that the present unemployment insurance system be strengthened to provide adequate protection to the millions of workers who may be affected by reconversion of industry.

I also recommend the adoption of a program of federal unemployment allowances for members of the armed forces.

* * *

The year 1944 will be more critical on the food front. Farm production must be larger than in 1943. Barring unfavorable weather conditions, I believe this objective can and will be achieved.

* * *

A stable farm price level is basic if we are to prevent inflation. I have often declared my belief that the judicious use of subsidies is necessary if consumer prices are to be kept from rising.

* * *

I wish at this time to stress the need for additional wartime taxes in at least the amount requested in October (10.5 billion dollars)....the failure thus far to enact an adequate fiscal program has aggravated the difficulties of maintaining economic stabilization.

* * *

By June 30, 1944, the public debt is expected to reach 198 billion dollars, and a year later 238 billion dollars. ...the only effective way now to control the volume of the debt and to minimize post-war adjustments is to adopt a truly stiff fiscal program.

Giant Air Battle Deals Heavy Blow To Nazi Aviation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

America's air-fleet administered a major defeat, physical and moral, to the Hitlerites in Tuesday's giant battle over Germany.

We have carried our attack to the very heart of Nazi defensive strength—a grand achievement. We have done great damage to three of the chief aircraft assembly plants of the hard-pressed reich, thereby inflicting a grievous wound on enemy aircraft production at the crucial moment of the war when the Nazis are girding themselves for invasion of western Europe.

Our airmen shot down some hundred fighter planes. But only the Germans know how many hundreds of aircraft were destroyed in the plants at Oschersleben, Halberstadt and Brunswick. Only the Germans can say how much their warplane production has been cut down by this attack, but it undoubtedly is large.

We did a good job. I hear a lot of folk trying to estimate the value of that daring operation by the number of men and aircraft we lost. Certainly a loss of 595 men and sixty-four war-planes, including fifty-nine huge bombers, is a tough blow. But you just can't figure the thing on that basis.

Question of Price

When our air command considers such an attack the cardinal question to be asked is: are the objectives worth the risk? If that can be answered with a "yes," then the project is justifiable. It would remain justifiable even if the attack failed of its purpose through no fault of our forces.

What, say you, would it cost in lives, time and money to battle our way across western Europe with a land army to those three German cities and destroy the aircraft plants? The answer is that every time we carry out a successful air assault we are doing the work of a great ground force.

We shall have a chance to check on that before long, when we put our army of invasion ashore in western Europe. And it's well for us to get our minds adjusted to the idea that we are going to see some very heavy allied losses. Tuesday's unprecedented air battle was a mild preview of what we must expect at the time of invasion, and our casualties in landing troops will be hard to bear.

Two Important Points

Two points strike me as calling for our special thought in connection with this air battle. The first is that, while the Germans are on the down-grade, they still retain great defensive power. They no longer are able to carry out the vast bombing attacks which they staged early in the war, because they have been forced to cut their production of bombers down to a whisper and devote their energies to building the defensive fighter plane. But their fighter force has gained in proportion, as they demonstrated Tuesday.

The second point develops naturally as a corollary to the first. Because of this Nazi air strength, and because of the increasingly heavy losses we shall have as we prepare for and inaugurate the invasion, we are in great need of more and still more intensification of warplane production. That's where the home front gets into the fight.

Do you know that one of those heavy bombers has more than half a million parts, not including maybe 700,000 rivets? It used to take about 200,000 man hours to build one of these big fellows, though this time has been reduced.

Last, but far from least, the allied air assault on Germany from the west is playing its part in the continuing successes of the Red armies. The Anglo-American air navies are destroying Germany's war industries and supplies, and they are forcing the Nazis to defend themselves in the air with power which they urgently need on the Russian front.

"Any candidate who deliberately violates a covenant with the people of this country to secure votes of any political party that goes back on its platform is unworthy of public trust."

Denying the presindent is the "general manager of the federal government," as characterized by the bureau of the budget, Bricker declared "under such a program the executive has usurped the functions of congress."

"The Republican party," he said, "must take the policy making power of the government away from the bureaucrats and return it to the hands of the elected representatives of the people."

SHOWDOWN DUE IN NEW GUINEA

Jap Supply Lines Weakened as U. S. and Aussies Keep Up Heavy Attack.

By The Associated Press

A section of Australian forces operating on the Japanese and the southern supply line in the Huon peninsula of Papua, New Guinea, broke down fight in June each of northern New Guinea.

Spitting of General MacArthur's arm to new forward bases in New Guinea was disclosed in a move to intensify the already-heavy siege laid down on the enemy, and perhaps prepare for the next allied offensive.

The fifth airforce concentrated on Madang, Japanese base on the northeast coast of New Guinea, in what could be a "softening up" operation and the Japanese showed definite indications of their apparent intention to evacuate the Huon peninsula to the south.

Landing Attempt Smashed

On New Britain, United States Marines broke up a Nipponese attempt to land reinforcements at Cape Gloucester, by sinking two troop-filled barges in Borgen bay with artillery fire. As for the American beachhead at Arawe on the southwest coast, a headquarters spokesman declared "we are still right there and on the job," contrary to a Tokyo assertion it had been recaptured by the Japanese.

A Tokyo broadcast reported the second allied raid in two nights on Bangkok, capital of Japanese-held Thailand.

Australian troops increased the threat of isolating the Japanese on the Huon peninsula as they advanced another three miles toward American units at Saidor. Between Saidor and Sio to the south, P-T boats sank nine additional barges.

Japs See Doom

Robert Eunson, Associated Press war correspondent, said in a dispatch from allied airforce headquarters the intensity of bomber attacks "apparently has convinced the Japanese that their hold on northeastern New Guinea is doomed, for they are evacuating troops from the castal area between SIO and Saidor."

A group of Marion county fair officials are in Columbus today attending the annual meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers association. Director Lloyd Williams, president of the Marion county board, Ted Mosier, secretary, Clyde Hinderer, treasurer, and alternate, to be named to the state meet, W. M. Broads, delegate, John Dobson, Sam Little, O. E. Barns, Edward Bendle, John Schwartzel, Clyde Hoffman and C. E. Cline. Dean Kinser attended last year, returned and returned to Marion today.

The Associated Press announced that the Ohio state department of agriculture had approved dates for 88 county and independent fairs in Ohio this year, 21 more than were held in 1943.

The announcement was made at opening sessions of the State Fair Managers' association. County fair plans are to resume this year, include Cardington, Guernsey, Hancock, Hocking, Holmes, Lucas, Miami, Morgan, Jackson, Lawrence, Licking, Scioto, and a Richland County Junior fair.

New independent fairs include Bellville and Loudonville.

Motorist Fined $25, Loses Driving Rights

W. B. Stark, 29, of 1029 Uncapher avenue was arrested by city police yesterday morning at 9:55 and charged with leaving the scene of an accident occurring on Davids street about three hours earlier. He pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday, was fined $25 and costs and his driving rights were suspended for three years. Police said Stark's machine sideswiped a parked park.

Special abrasive blasting machines make it possible to clean millions of metal belt links for Army .30 and .50 caliber machine gun cartridges quickly and cheaply.

Social Security Freeze Opposed by Altmeyer

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13—A. J. Altmeyer, social security board chairman, said today freezing of the social security tax at the present rate of 1 per cent during 1944—already voted by the senate—would make it impossible for old age pensioners in the future by more than $1,000,000,000.

The American federation of Labor, meanwhile, pleading before the house ways and means committee that the tax be allowed to increase 1 per cent, urged it be increased 2 per cent as of Jan. 1.

Lewis G. Hines, AFL legislative representative, said "old age and survivors insurance is a wage-earners' social insurance policies are to those who can afford them."

The committee voted Tuesday, 18 to 17, to freeze the tax through 1944 and the senate committee opened hearings today on the proposal. Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) ranking minority member of the committee predicted the house would uphold the senate action.

The number of federal retirement claims now is declining because many persons reaching retirement age are remaining at work.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen ankles, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. They have been used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Getting Up Nights Makes Many Feel Old

Do you feel older than you are or suffer from Getting Up Nights, Backache, Nervousness, Leg Pains, Dizziness, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatic Pains, Burning, scanty or frequent passages? If so, remember that your Kidneys are vital to your health and that these symptoms may be due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles—in such cases Cystex (a physician's prescription) usually gives prompt and joyous relief by helping the Kidneys flush out poisonous excess acids and wastes. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose in trying Cystex. An iron-clad guarantee assures a refund of your money on return of empty package unless fully satisfied. Don't delay. JUDGE SENTENCES THREE

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 13—Federal Judge Frank L. Kloeb sentenced the following to two years in prison on narcotics charges yesterday: John E. Bunning of Sandusky, Mark A. Corbitt of Wauseon and Albert H. Smith of Fostoria.

DEFENSES IN ZONE FINISHED

Army Engineers Complete Herculean Task in Record Time.

By International News Service

HEADQUARTERS, PANAMA CANAL—Details of the gigantic and heroic task of arming the vast reaches of the Caribbean Defense Command during the hectic days follow ng the attack on Pearl Harbor have been revealed here for the first time by Brig. Gen. Gordon R. Young, chief engineer.

During the construction period the progress of the work was, of course, secret, and by the time the huge project had been virtually completed and the information concerning it no longer restricted, the world's interest in the war effort had shifted to other continents.

"Fortunately" said General Young, "the Japs struck just before the dry season and we had three short weeks in which to plan our work. General Andrews (the late Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews) called me into his office and showed me a small map of the area colored with red pins.

Task Seemed Impossible

"'See those pins?' he said. 'Well, I want airfields everywhere there are pins and I want them finished quick.'

"Very good, sir,' I replied. 'I suppose you know, by the way, that many of these locations are in virgin jungle without even a trail to them.'

"'That's no excuse, young man, you are hired for.'

So Young, then a colonel in charge of the Panama Engineering Division started on the job he was "hired for." When he wound up the job a short while ago he was decorated with the Legion of Merit "in recognition of achievements immediately prior to and since the declaration of war in readying the defenses of the Panama Canal."

Some idea of the vastness of the project may be found in the fact that the area for which the Panama Canal Department alone was responsible for arming was roughly half as large as the United States.

"A Whale of a Job"

"There were other maps," General Young continued, "with locations for air warning stations—many of them in trackless jungle—anti-aircraft and searchlight positions, automatic weapons stations and other necessary defense installations.

"We were not caught entirely unawares by the Japanese attack.

"You might say," he explained with a deep, rumbling chuckle, "that we were caught with our pants only half down.

"About four years ago the United States had embarked on a 10-year program of arming the approaches to the Canal. In light of the situation early in 1941, we were ordered to complete the entire job in the single year of 1942. And the program originally planned over a ten-year period was doubled.

"We also were faced with the problem of building hundreds of miles of roads to inaccessible areas, the construction of quarters for workmen who hadn't yet been recruited, and the sanitation of large areas that the men might work free from the peril of jungle disease and fevers.

"We had a whale of a job getting supplies from the United States as there was already a shortage of vessels. In the Panama division alone we were forced to expand our force of civilian employes to a peak of 25,000 men.

"In those days immediately following Pearl Harbor our conferences were orgies of guessing what we would need. We estimated our needs and then doubled the estimate. I must admit there were a lot of cold feet under those conference tables in those days, but our vital job went on under the threat of immediate attack. It was war and there was no time for hesitancy. The job had to be done as ordered—it moved quick.'

"But we all were delighted later to find that even under such circumstances, our greatest error in estimates was never more than five per cent over or under actual needs.

"We sent a staff to New Orleans where they rented part of an office building and put them to work buying, inspecting and securing the world for bottoms to bring our supplies. We put others to combing the United States and many Latin American countries for workers. We were buying supplies at the rate of 25,000 tons a month. It was difficult to find what we wanted and even more of a problem to get them to Panama.

And when men and supplies started rolling in, we still faced a task with a time element which we probably would have considered impossible had it not been for one thing—we had to do it, whether or not it was impossible.

Many Workers Lost Lives

In some of the regions where we built roads, tractors would sometimes all but disappear in the mud. In many places equipment was taken through brush, mud and water by sheer manpower. How searchlights, guns and heavy generators were dragged, pushed and prayed to the tops of jungle mountains thick with men is a story that is written in sweat and blood.

"A lot of our civilian workers died in this service.

"In many places our heavy machinery was bargeed up rivers then dumped ashore where built the jungle. The problem of supplies was less anything we had done here before. Machinery roared in virgin territory for 24 hours a day. Men were taken into the jungle and lived without shelter until they had built it themselves.

"When supply lines grew long and food was overdue, they lived off the country as best they could. They did a heroic job. They tackled the impossible.

"But they got the job done!"

"Big Steel" Wage Agreement Likely To Be Industry Pattern

New Contract Now Being Written in Secret Conference of Murray and Operators

By JAMES H JORDAN
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH, Jan [illegible]

[illegible] the regular [illegible]

[illegible] president [illegible] charge of industrial relations for U. S. Steel [illegible] Murray [illegible] strategy from the [illegible] bargaining [illegible] demands the [illegible] men

Directly involved in the negotiations are some 200,000 steel workers, members of the union, who are employed by 12 major subsidiaries of the corporation.

800,000 Workers Involved

Indirectly [illegible] are all of the [illegible] industry and others [illegible] the industry accepts the contract as approved by U. S. Steel.

[illegible] agreement [illegible] Murray [illegible] 17 cents an hour and guaranteed [illegible] for members. Such an [illegible] would carry steel wages beyond the terms of the Little Steel formula under which wage boosts are limited to 15 per cent above the level of January, 1941.

The steel industry already has obtained the 15 per cent increase. The hiring rate is now 78 cents an hour.

Last Christmas eve a strike started among steel workers whose contracts had expired, and spread to 170,000 workers in plants independent of U. S. Steel. It ended three days later after President Roosevelt told both sides that if new agreements include wage adjustments, these shall apply retroactively to the date on which the old contracts expired. Then the war labor board announced that wage negotiations would be in accordance with the President's statements.

The "little steel formula" was designed originally to hold wages to prescribed levels, and the office of price administration and other governmental agencies were to hold costs of living and commodities to a parallel course. This the steel workers insist, has not been done.

Cleans quickly with bubbling action... no scrubbing. Leaves a fresh minty fragrance. Costs no more than ordinary cleaners.

Zivic's Draft Board Likely To Halt His Tour with LaMota

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Jan. 13—If he didn't have a date next week with his draft board, Fritzie Zivic's fistic series with Jake La Motta might become a road show with real depth of tradition.

Flat-nosed Fritzie, last of Pittsburgh's fighting Zivic clan, tackles Jolting Jacob of the Bronx tomorrow night at Olympia Stadium in the fourth match of a series which La Motta leads, 2 to 1. New York and Pittsburgh liked the show and so will Detroit, Matchmaker Nick Londes declares, pointing to a big advance ticket sale.

Barring such development as draft board business, there's really no reason why the La Motta-Zivic entourage couldn't make a success of threading its way to California and back to New York just for sheer fistic entertainment. There's not even the reasonable facsimile of a title at stake.

Naturally, Fritzie thinks he'll beat La Motta over the 10-round route again. In Zivic's book, the series stands 3 to 0 in his favor, though unfortunately the official verdict went against him in one of the two fights at Pittsburgh and in the rubber match last fall at Madison Square Garden in New York.

"La Motta's the kind of fighter I can beat every night in the week," asserts Fritzie.

BOWLING RESULTS

Coy, with a 243, Tops Long List of 200-or-Better Scores in Wednesday Night Bowling.

Coy, Marion Steam Shovel leaguer, rolled high single game of 243 in Wednesday night bowling at the Palace Recreation Center. In the recently formed Army Air Corps league at the Palace, Steinmetz was the only 200-or-better kegler with lines of 203 and 200. Besting Men's All-Star loop maple-spillers at the Marion Recreation was Maynard Snyder's 225 game and 605 series.

Other high games in the Steam Shovel loop were Moore 210, Hinze 204, and Drollinger 200. Following Snyder's leading All-Star circuit count were C. Patton 203, Schoenlaub 221, Oberlander 201, Chapman 203, Coy 219, Sechrist 208, Cookston 202, Cass 201, Haas 201, Pickering 203, and Wolbert 201.

At the top of Steam Shovel loop standings is Team No. 5 with 32 victories and 19 reverses while Carroll's Jewelry quintet still reigns supreme in the All-Star league with a 32-22 record for a slim one-game lead.

Standings in the Steam Shovel and Men's All-Star leagues together with individual three-game series totals in all three loops Wednesday night follow.

By The Associated Press

Denison university ran up the highest score in the 1943-'44 college basketball season in Ohio last night in drubbing Ohio Northern at Ada, 108-40.

Paced by Young, who scored 24 points, every man on the Denison squad had a hand in the scoring.

At Richmond, Ind., Wittenberg took an early lead and was in front all the way to hand Earlham its fourth defeat in five starts, 84-36.

Nick Vucovich, Wittenberg freshman, led the scorers with 28 points.

In the only other game of the night Bowling Green beat Patterson Field 30-29.

EDISON AND CENTRAL TO PLAY TOMORROW

Thomas A. Edison's cagers enter into 1944 city Junior High school basketball festivities tomorrow night when they meet Central's once-victorious downtown outfit at the Armory on West Church street. Tentative starting time for the varsity tangle is 8 o'clock. A clash between the two schools' reserve teams is scheduled for 7 o'clock.

Central, coached by Ralph Kelly, who directed the downtowners to the 1943 Junior High football crown, opened the league season last Friday with a convincing 39 to 16 shellacking of Vernon Heights, mentored by Bob McCracken.

Ed Cooney's Edison five will be after its second city cage crown in as many campaigns tomorrow night. Last year, blessed with height and experience, the Cooney-men took over undisputed possession of the crown without a setback.

BUYERS TIMID AS PRICES SLIP

Early Market Efforts at Recovery Fail To Follow Through Today.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—Buying unduly cautious from selling urgency stymied the stock market today and leaders generally slipped fractions to a point or so.

The list was no worse than slightly mixed at the start but early mild recoveries failed to follow through. Dealings were about as slow as on yesterday's session.

Most brokerage customers lightened up here and there pending congressional action on taxes and other questions pertaining to industry.

The President's budget message estimating expenditures at around $100,000,000,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, was in line with expectations marketwise.

On the offside were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears-Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Texas Co. and Anaconda. Occasional resistance was shown by DuPont and International Nickel.

WHEAT DEVELOPS WEAK UNDERTONE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 13—Wheat developed a distinctly weak undertone today, slumping more than a cent to the lowest level since ceilings were placed over the grain. Liquidation was scattered and not pressing, but the market lacked buying orders and declining tendencies persisted.

There were reports from the northwest that farmers had been heavy sellers of cash wheat on a "to-arrive" basis over the past 10 days. This, coupled with indications of heavy imports from Canada over the next few months caused the selling of futures. Other grains were down with the bread cereal, rye dropping about 2 cents at times.

Roosevelt Spends More Than 30 Predecessors

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 — The 12 budget messages President Roosevelt has sent to congress will have accounted for more than three times as much money as all his 30 predecessors spent.

The $39,769,000,000 Mr. Roosevelt projected today for the fiscal year beginning July 1 brings his total of actual or contemplated federal spending to more than $378,600,000,000—more than $295,000,000,000 of which was labeled for defense or war.

From Washington's time until Herbert Hoover left the White House (including the remainder of the 1933 fiscal year for which he submitted the budget), governmental costs were roughly $112,000,000,000.

RULES AGAINST OPA IN EVICTION SUIT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13—Tenants who maintain a residence as a nuisance may be evicted by landlords regardless of office of price administration rent regulations, the Ohio supreme court ruled yesterday.

Luva Hurst of Canton obtained an eviction order in the municipal courts against Harry Hauk, a tenant, on grounds of maintaining a nuisance after the OPA had declared Canton a defense rental area.

Stark county courts ruled since the matter of rent payment was not involved the OPA was without authority to annul the eviction. The supreme tribunal dismissed an appeal on grounds no debatable constitutional question was involved.

The supreme court declined to consider an appeal by Clarence Keller from Erie county court decisions holding he could not collect damaged from the Ohio Public Service Co. for injuries suffered when he attempted to retrieve his son's pet squirrel from a utility pole. He was burned by electric current.

Sheriff Richard France of Stark county will have to pay $1,000 damages to Lee Pearlman for injuries suffered when Pearlman was caught in a three-way automobile accident caused by deputy sheriffs directing the driving of the car primarily responsible for the accident. The deputies were riding with an automobile driver whom they had arrested on a traffic charge and directed him to run down another car which they deemed violating the law also.

MONTREAL STRIKE ENDS

By The Associated Press

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 — Montreal's city hall was back to normal today as 2,300 striking municipal white collar workers returned to work in response to an appeal from their leaders who decided last night to call off the 23-day strike and submit their wage increase demands to arbitration.

44,000,000 Believed To Have Heard Roosevelt

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 13—A rating of 56.9 was given President Roosevelt's all-network broadcast Tuesday night of his message to congress by the Hooper program checkers, they announced today. This, they said, represented a potential listening audience of approximately 44,000,000.

The figure compared with 57.1 per cent for his Lincoln day address last Feb. 12 and 53.0 per cent for his July 28 report on the war.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

IT was not the voice of Crump, the waiter, delivering the cryptic message which we had been expecting so feverishly. My trained ears told me that from the first syllable, and an instinct born of experience bade me be wary in answering the unknown voice speaking to me.

"I do not quite understand," I said, trying to give the impression that I was slightly deaf, and conscious that I probably was registering feeble-mindedness instead. "Will you please repeat the message?"

There was no response from the other end of the wire, and for a second or two I wondered if I had frightened the man away.

Then came a puzzled, slightly impatient question.

"Ain't this Missis Graham?"

"Yes," I answered quickly.

"Well, I'm speaking where I can't talk much nor name names, and I'm calling for another man who knows you. He said you'd be expecting this call, and that you sure would want to know what I'm telling you."

"Indeed I do," I said. "What is it?"

"He says to tell you he can't get away to telephone, but that it's a different set-up this time—three women and two men—but he's pretty sure one of the women is his girl friend, although he can't be certain. He said you'd understand."

"Yes, yes," I prodded feverishly.

"That's all," he finished abruptly, "except that he says he'll be as slow as he can. Good-bye."

Call Unheard

"Tell him to watch for us," I said excitedly, but the click of the receiver told me that my call had been unheard, and, turning from the telephone, I stood motionless for a second, my head and shoulders thrown back, and my fingers clenched into my palms while I girded myself for the action into which I knew I soon must plunge.

So Marion was again in the restaurant where Crump worked! I discounted the uncertainty which his friend had reported, for my intuition whispered that Marion, and none other, was the girl whose presence he was reporting. And I was sure suddenly of Crump, with a certainty which before had been denied me; sure that he would keep to his bargain with us, and assist in her rescue as much as he possibly could.

What was it his messenger had said last? "He'll be as slow as he can." That means the dinner and the service would be delayed as much as Crump dared, so as to give us the time we would sorely need.

The message could not have come at a worse time. My father was on his way home from Washington—I had the wire a short time before—the first word since he had left so hurriedly after receiving the transcript of the conversation between Redfield and Milner when they thought themselves alone and unheard.

Spencer Expected

I expected him within the hour, but I knew that I dared not wait for him. And I had no idea when Dickey would be back from the mysterious errand which had hurried him away, in search, I was certain, of Harry Underwood. Harry, from whom except for that one roundabout call we had heard nothing, since that terrible risk, he had gone down into the underworld, where he once had gone yeoman service for the government, in an heroic and desperate endeavor to find Marion's captors!

Ronald was across the city in the Underwood home, watching over Lillian, who refused to leave the house, lest Harry or Marion send her a message, while Noel, who knew Marion least, was in the apartment across the way from the restaurant rendezvous which had been rented by my father as a lookout from which one of our group, supported by guards, would be constantly on watch for Marion's appearance at the restaurant.

Realizes Stupidity

I lamented our collective stupidity as I realized that Noel would be watching for a white-haired woman with two men among the customers of the restaurant, and that a group of three women and two men might well pass unnoticed.

I realized something else also: that there was no time to be wasted, and with a flexing of my muscles, a steeling of my nerves, a final pulling of myself together, I went to the telephone and called the apartment across from the restaurant, blessing my father's unique position which had enabled him to have a telephone installed in those rooms.

"Noel?" I queried sharply as I recognized his voice in the rising inflection of "Yes?" with which he invariably answers the telephone.

"Yes," he said again, this time with a falling inflection, then broke into rapid speech.

"Oh, Aunt Madge!" he exclaimed. "I was just about to call you again. I've tried before, but your line was busy."

"Anything on your mind?" I asked with far more lightness than I felt.

"Plenty," he returned. "I've been watching every minute, but I didn't see that group of three. But just a few minutes ago, two men and three women got out of a car and went into the place. Two of them were white-haired, and I couldn't get a good look at their faces. Not one of them looked like—you know the one I mean, but—"

"But she was, nevertheless!" I interrupted him ruthlessly.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Jan. 14

DILIGENCE, perseverance, industry and concentrated energies should move crystallized or static affairs forward to enduring and well-merited success. Long, lagging matters should be galvanized into life and very satisfactory combinations, mainly through sound thinking, well-engineered plans and executive ability. Attention to details, systems and policies may secure best results, particularly attracting interest and substantial support for those in prestige and public as well as private standing. Good ground work, clear understanding of underlying elements should win success, assuring personal peace and happiness reacting on the social, domestic and professional status.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of an opening to show whatever solid, sterling and efficient qualities may be lying at the base of a progressive, sound and meritorious career, either in business, profession, or the accumulation of possessions, good name and community standing. Both public and private prestige and stability are assured, with enduring good fortune and position. Largely, this happy and lucrative state of affairs may be due to sound, constructive thinking, study, diligence and deep rooted discernment of the underlying cause of things. All should happily react on the social, domestic and cultural life as well.

A child born on this day will have much depth of character, a logical and serious reaction toward things in general, assuring support from those in power, ready to acknowledge merit and further practical aspirations and aims.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Angina Patient

The man or woman who has a sudden attack of severe pain around the heart which the physician pronounces angina pectoris, generally takes the gloomiest view of the ultimate outcome, makes a new will, and lies back, waiting the inevitable. He may be that way for nearly twenty years, according to modern statistical surveys.

In other words, the pronouncement of angina, while it is by no means to be taken lightly, is not necessarily a prophesy of immediate doom.

The most complete and reliable of statistics ever made on this subject has just been published by Drs. White, Bland and Miskall of Boston. They followed up 50 cases of angina whom they saw during or previous to 1931 and ascertained the status, activity and health of each one of them as of the current year. These follow-up studies involve an enormous amount of work, but the results are proportionately valuable. They eliminate guess work, and furnish actual experience.

If these and other studies are to be believed the duration of life of the patient after angina is increasing. In 1918 a report showed that the average was 3 years. Mackenzie found it to be 5 years in 1925. In 1931 it was about the same. In the 1943 group the average (of those who died) is nearly 8 years.

It is possible to suppose that this improvement is due to a better understanding of the disease, more accurate diagnosis, and better methods of treatment.

Another point that may be comforting to a person who has recovered from an attack is that every year of survival means a better outlook for length of life. If you survive three years, your chances of living out a fair expectancy begin to increase. In this series of patients 7 are living 20 years after the first attack, 4 are living 24 years after, and one is still living 32 years after the first attack.

Your chances of living some time after the first attack increase proportionately with the faithfulness with which you obey your doctor's orders about a long period of rest after a severe attack. Rest in bed for several weeks is a minimum, perhaps for months, depending on circumstances and limited activity forever after that is the best guarantee that you will live to see your grandchildren grow up.

The fellow who decides after his first attack on a short life but a merry one is pretty sure to attain at least half his decision—it will be short.

The actual figures on 500 cases—445 patients are dead and 55 are living. The number 445 may seem very high, but remember the average age when the patient entered the experience is 55. And of those who died the average duration of life was 7 years, 10 months, 2 weeks. That would bring the life term up almost to the scriptural limit. Of the 55 who are still living the average duration of life is 18 years, 3 months.

THAT'S NO GENTLEMAN—THAT'S MAGGIE'S COUSIN—
HE JUST GOT OUT OF JAIL AN' I KNOW HE'S LOOKIN' FER A TOUCH—I'M GLAD HE CAME TO MY OFFICE—INSTEAD OF MY HOUSE—IF THE NEIGHBORS SAW HIM I'D BE DISGRACED
JIGGS WILL YOU LEND ME $100.00 TO PAY ME FIRST MONTH'S RENT?
ALL RIGHT—BUT ISN'T THAT A LOT OF RENT FOR YOU TO PAY?
YES—BUT IT'S VERY REASONABLE FOR SUCH A SWANKY NEIGHBORHOOD—WE RENTED THE HOUSE NEXT TO YOURS—
